This model-turned-actor has risen through the ranks to reach his stellar status today at MediaCorp Studios. He was in Star Search '95, a bi-annual nationwide talent search, and came in second in the male category. That secured him an acting contract and he has not looked back since.

With his chiselled good looks and awesome physique, he is without a doubt a natural choice when it comes to casting the leading man in a drama serial. His acting career soared to greater heights when he bagged the Best Actor Award in Star Awards '97, an annual award ceremony for TV personalities, for his dramatic performance in Price Of Peace. In 1998, his portrayal of Yang Guo in Singapore's version of Louis Cha's Return Of The Condor Heroes was so successful that he was voted Taiwan's Most Popular MediaCorp Male Artiste. Since then, he has been in a number of co-productions, acting alongside with regional actors like Jordan Chan.

Not satisfied with just acting, this soulful crooner added another feather to his cap by releasing a solo album in 1999. He also recorded a compilation album for MediaCorp Music along with the rest of the MediaCorp artistes. Christopher is a hardworking artiste who has no complaints when it comes to work. His professionalism is definitely admirable.
